

Ardites Serious about Quality: License the Tick-the-Code Method from Qualiteers

The Tick-the-Code method enables constant improvement of software source code, the Tick-the-Code license enables training of the whole personnel.

Oulu 27-Mar-2008 - Ardites Training Services Ltd. has licensed the Tick-the-Code quality method training for its internal use. The method and its training have been developed by Qualiteers Miska Hiltunen located in Bochum, Germany.

According to Sami Varpenius (CEO, Ardites Training Services Ltd.), the Tick-the-Code license supports the quality goals of Ardites. The aim of Ardites Training Services is to train all current and future employees of Ardites to be able to use the Tick-the-Code quality method in their work and thus improve the quality of their work in practice. In addition, Varpenius sees that the quality-oriented approach Tick-the-Code training takes is most useful in improving quality thinking. Therefore it develops the holistic relationship towards quality understanding of the employees of the company.

Tick-the-Code - for practical software quality

The Tick-the-Code method is cutting-edge in software quality control. It enables the checking of large source code masses in practice and regularly enough. Already 40 software companies from various application areas are familiar with the Tick-the-Code method. As a manual checking method its biggest benefit is the constant learning its users get. Its regular use makes it ever more feasible. According to the Head Trainer Miska Hiltunen, licensing of the training is most suitable for large software companies. With the licensing material and after a special trainer training the company is free to adjust its internal training sessions to the schedules of its projects.

Qualiteers Miska Hiltunen is a training company specializing in software quality. It was founded in 2006 and has trained over 500 software developers in 40 companies in 6 countries. Training languages are Finnish, English and German. Qualiteers - defending software quality. See www.qualiteers.com.

Ardites Ltd. is a company which produces software design and consulting services. Our goal is to deliver top quality products to our customers. Effective, interactive customer service and high quality solutions are based on professional skill and team work. Ardites - Serious about Software. See www.ardites.com.

For more information, contact:

Head Trainer Miska Hiltunen, Qualiteers, miska.hiltunen@qualiteers.com and CEO Sami Varpenius, Ardites Training Services Ltd, sami.varpenius@ardites.com

###